

Tween Girls and God -- CREATION

Where in the world did we come from? Apes? One called something-or-another that nobody can really identify? Did the earth really boom into existence from nothing, cool for a ka-zillion years and then, somehow, we arrived? If your Christian girl is in public school (or even if she isn't) those are the questions rolling around in her mind. Telling her to choose between the Bible and science doesn't really seem like a good solution to the question of evolution vs. creation. Instead, how about giving her a helping hand in understanding and discovering God's wonderful creation for herself? Tween Girls and God is created just for girls in that 9-12 year old age-group. They're in such a tight spot! Not really kids anymore, they are certainly not teens. Their questions and struggles fall into their own, special category. The writers at TGG want to minister to this age-group by providing themed devotionals, articles and activities that will help them grow in their walk with Jesus. The magazine is free for five days of its first week of publication. This issue will be in its free zone from September 20 - September 24. Grab yours then and feel free to share with your friends. Thereafter, it will cost 0.99, Amazon's minimum price. This month's theme is Creation (just in case you missed that!) This week: Billions of years or six days? Stories in the stars! A new Kingdom Answers about freckles! A new word in Word Whiz Where did we come from? And more! If you have questions or would like to join the ministry of Tween Girls and God, contact us at TGGMag@gmail.com. Find us on Facebook or visit our blog at TweenGirlsAndGod.blogspot.com.
